RUTTER HOBBS & DAVIDOFF LAUNCHES SPECIAL TASKFORCE TO HELP COMPANIES SURVIVE THE RECESSION

‘Business Reorganization & Capital Recovery Services’ Provides Full-Service Approach Integrating Legal Experts in Bankruptcy, Real Estate, Intellectual Property and Employment Law

LOS ANGELES (March 4, 2009) – Los Angeles-based law firm Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff Incorporated announced the launch of its “Business Reorganization & Capital Recovery Services” group. This highly-effective taskforce of legal experts addresses the wide-ranging challenges companies and real estate businesses are facing amidst today’s troubled economy. With attorneys specializing in bankruptcy, business litigation, employment issues, intellectual property, real estate and business transactions, the firm is uniquely equipped to draw from its resources in multiple disciplines to help clients develop solutions that address their unique situations.

“At Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff we are fortunate to be a full-service firm because it enables us to help our clients respond to today’s business landscape,” said Brian L. Davidoff, managing director of Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff. “Through the launch of the taskforce, we are leveraging our collective knowledge base in areas ranging from financial restructuring to workforce reduction, real estate issues and challenges related to intellectual property for the benefit of our clients.”

Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff’s new “Business Reorganization & Capital Recovery Services” group provides a unique opportunity for bankruptcy specialists to work closely with the firm’s corporate, real estate, intellectual property and employment attorneys to help clients proactively identify potential pitfalls that could compromise their future success. When necessary, the litigation team gets involved to prosecute and defend actions common in financially distressed times, including pre-judgment attachments and business dissolution.

Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff is also expanding its team of professionals in these areas with the recent addition of John Melissinos, who specializes in representing bankruptcy trustees and other bankruptcy matters, and Judy Lam, who litigates matters including construction, real property business torts, class actions and franchise cases.
