LOS ANGELES (June 29, 2009)—Los Angeles-based law firm Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff Incorporated has been named among the "Best Places to Work in Los Angeles" for a second consecutive year. The standing, published by the Los Angeles Business Journal, signifies the strength of the firm's overall corporate culture and positive employee morale.

"It is a great honor for Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff to be named one of the 'Best Places to Work in Los Angeles,' particularly in light of the challenges many firms are facing due to the economy," said Brian Davidoff, managing director at Rutter Hobbs & Davidoff. "The ranking by the Los Angeles Business Journal validates our firm philosophy to promote teamwork among our attorneys and administrative staff, and across all nine practice areas. We believe teamwork is vital to providing comprehensive, cost effective counsel to our clients, including both institutions and entrepreneurs."

The Los Angeles Business Journal's annual "Best Places to Work" list attracts entries from companies in nearly every industry and of all sizes. The companies named "Best Places to Work" are determined via a two-part evaluation process conducted by Best Companies Group, a third-party provider based in Harrisburg, Pa. Best Companies Group evaluates each company's workplace policies, practices and demographics (approximately 25 percent of the total score) and conducts an employee survey to measure employee engagement and satisfaction (approximately 75 percent of the total score).
